

Press Release

Slaughterhouse turns into Berlin Art Salon for Five Days

7. BERLINER KUNSTSALON between October 5 – 10, 2010

In fall, art flourishes in Berlin. Featuring internationally renowned artists, the 7. BERLINER KUNSTSALON (7th Berlin Art Salon) presents itself at the unique cultural monument of the a.station at the Landsberger Allee 104.

Following up on the success of previous years, the BERLINER KUNSTSALON is again located in an exceptional exhibition space: Under the direction of Roland Klümpen, over 100 artists will show their works at the previous Central Cattle- and Slaughterhouse established in 1881. The unique concept of the exhibition attracts far over 12,000 art lovers, gallery owners, and collectors every year.

The idea of the BERLINER KUNSTSALON was first established in the 1920's. Ever since, it has provided a platform of exchange for artists, curators, and gallery owners. In the realm of contemporary art, the BERLINER KUNSTSALON is one of the largest events next to the Art Forum Berlin.

The 7. BERLINER KUNSTSALON opens on October 5, 2010 at 5.00 PM. Tickets can be obtained on location. The opening event on October 5, 2010 is free of charge.

We are looking forward to your visit.

For questions and further information please contact:

Public Relations

Sandra Gerstenberg

pr@7-berlinerkunstsalon.com

Project Management

Roland Klümpen

roland.kluempen@berlinerkunstsalon.de

www.7-berlinerkunstsalon.com